Effective January 1, 2007, the length of the International Standard Book Number (ISBN) will officially change from 10 to 13 digits. Over the next few years, the industry will begin using 13-digit ISBNs, while phasing out the use of 10-digit ISBNs. This change will require schools to use 13-digit product identifiers when transacting business with suppliers for books and instructional materials. For more information, visit www.publishers.org/ISBN-13.
